Coordination

On May 24th, the third Inter Agency Briefing for donors and operation partners on the Syria Situation was held. The coordination meeting, facilitated by UNHCR, was an opportunity for an update on working groups efforts as part of the Syrian response, to some 50 UN and NGO Partners. The event was also used to initiate the launch of the Regional Response Plan for Syrian Situation (RRP) revision process. The revision is both an answer to increasing numbers of Syrians arriving in Jordan, along with broader contingency planning efforts between UN partners and the Government of Jordan.

Protection/Numbers

The majority of Syrian refugees in the North have come from Tal Kalakh in Homs and are living with the host community. Most of those living in Wadi Khaled and its surroundings have entered through illegal border crossings, while those living in Tripoli have entered legally. As calm returned in Akkar last week, UNHCR launched an information campaign throughout Akkar in preparation for the first centralized registration at MoSA's Social Development Center (SDC) in Bire. The information campaign includes focus group discussions aimed to raise awareness on the process and requirements of registration. So far, 35 villages have been visited in Bire, Akkar Al-Atika and Halba. Centralized registration in Tripoli has not commenced due to the security situation there which has also interrupted house to house registration in the city. The majority of Syrian refugees in East Lebanon have come from Homs, Hama, Halab, and Idlib, with some arriving from the suburbs of Damascus. Almost half of the refugee community is living with the host community while the other half is renting apartments in the area. UNHCR continues centralized registration in Central Bekaa and is expected to conclude an initial round of registrations by the end of June.

Food and NFI: In May, the HRC suspended food distribution because the Coalition of Islamic Charities carried out food kit distributions in Akkar and Tripoli. UNHCR and DRC agreed with the HRC to continue to distribute hygiene and baby kits pending the resumption of the regular distribution programme in June. HRC will resume the distribution of food kits in June for Akkar. It is expected that WFP will contribute to the HRC's efforts in providing food in June in the Akkar region. Shelter: In the North, assistance has been focused not just on the refugees, but also on measures to assist host families who have been so generous in spite of their own difficulties. Over 100 families have been provided with coupons that enabled them to renovate their homes. NRC has secured additional funding to rehabilitate 60 more houses and upgrade 12 unfinished homes in Akkar. In northern Bekaa, 80% of the Syrian refugees are residing with host families, 10% are paying rent and the other 10% are living in collective shelters. The Norwegian Refugee Council (NRC) provided 65 hosting families with coupons enabling them to renovate their houses: 56 houses in Aarsal, 4 houses in Fakiha and 5 houses in Saadnayel. Health: In the North, the HRC continues to cover the cost of secondary health care while UNHCR covers the full cost for doctor consultations and diagnostic tests for women and children and up to 85% of diagnostic tests for all refugees through local primary health care centers. UNHCR, International Medical Corps (IMC), and Médecins Sans Frontieres (MSF) have recently started providing psychological and social support services in Tripoli. In the Bekaa, IMC has signed agreements with primary health care centers in Taanayel, Baalbeck and Aarsal to provide doctor consultations, medications including chronic, and diagnostic services to all Syrian refugees. Education: By the end of the school registration period in the North, only 552 refugee children have enrolled in schools out of 4,309 children between the age of 5 and 17. Despite extensive and consistent awareness campaigns about the importance of education, the school enrolment rate is as little as 13% among school-aged children. The main reason behind this worryingly low rate is the arrival of the majority of Syrian children after the school registration deadline. UNICEF's implementing partner War Child Holland has planned to establish two Child Friendly Spaces (CFSs) in Tripoli in the hope that the social and recreational activities offered by the CFSs will provide opportunities for meaningful participation alternatives to that of armed conflict. Save the Children Sweden (SCS) put in place regular remedial classes, awareness sessions and school empowerment projects.

Coordination

Working alongside the Government of Lebanon, notably the High Relief Commission, the Ministry of Social Affairs and municipalities, UNHCR has worked to ensure a consolidated and coordinated inter-agency response, engaging fellow UN agencies and local and international non-governmental partners. UNHCR teams hold regular inter-agency sector-based meetings on a bi-weekly basis at the central level in Beirut, and at the field level in the North and in the Bekaa.
